FIGURES OF SPEECH

ONOMATOPOEIA

When a word sounds like the noise it describes.

- The bell went DING-DONG!
- The rain went PITTER-PATTER on the roof.
- The fire CRACKLED in the fireplace.

OXYMORON

When two words with opposite meanings are placed together to create an interesting expression.

- Awfully good
- Seriously funny
- Clearly confused

IRONY

When the exact opposite of what you expect to happen actually happens.

- A professional chef burns dinner.
- A swimming instructor is afraid of water.
- A cleaning company has a messy office.

APOSTROPHE

When a speaker talks directly to someone who isn't there or something that isn't human as though it could hear and respond.

- Oh sun, please come out today!
- Oh moon, light my way home.
- Ocean, what secrets are you hiding?

PUN

Play on words that have more than one meaning.

- The maths teacher has too many problems.
- The frog's car broke down, so it had to be toad away.
- The orange stopped halfway up the hill because it ran out of juice.
